The secret of the 33 SeaWalker lies in the clear-cut scanning of the spaces, which becomes the key of versatility, the most prominent element of the whole boat. The secret of such comfortable deck are the two appendages that widen out at the sides of the hull, becoming decidedly prominent at the stern. This benefits the cockpit, which has an unimaginable space of 10-metre, by sailing it also benefits of comfort and safety. The large stern platform completes the equipment in the best possible way, making a point in favour of the inboard version: with the two outboards, in fact, much of its surface area would be sacrificed.
